SPRING

extension ideas

- 1. Plants: Plant seeds and observe their growth over time. Study the plant life cycle, photosynthesis, and the parts of a plant.
- 2. Nature Walk: Go on a spring nature walk and create a scavenger hunt for items like flowers, insects, or budding trees. Identify plants and animals you find using a field guide or app. Create a nature journal with sketches and notes about your discoveries.
- 3. Listen for Birds Chirping: Discuss the life cycle of birds. Also fun to find nests and discuss how they are made.
- 4. Butterflies and Insects: Raise caterpillars and observe their transformation into butterflies, or study other spring insects like bees and ladybugs. Learn about the life cycle of a butterfly and pollination. Create a butterfly craft or diagram to illustrate the process.
- 5. Pond Life Exploration: Visit a pond or wetland to observe frogs, tadpoles, and other aquatic life. Study the life cycle of frogs and the ecosystem of a pond. Create a diorama or drawing to show the different plants and animals that live there.

The image shows two spiral-bound notebooks. The notebook on the left has a light blue cover with the title 'Assignment Tracker' in a dark blue, cursive-style font. It features a table with four columns: 'DATE', 'ASSIGNMENT', 'DUE DATE', and 'DONE'. The 'DONE' column contains a series of 20 empty checkboxes. The notebook on the right has a light blue cover with the title 'Grades Tracker' in a dark blue, cursive-style font. It features a table with two columns: 'DATE' and an unlabeled column for grades. Both notebooks have a dark blue spiral binding.
